

Inground Pool Liners

for a lower maintenance pool

The Smart Choice for inground pools

Steps and deep-ends are easily encompassed in a liner...

A Smarter choice for new pools and renovations...

Whether you are planning a new inground pool, or simply looking to renovate an existing one, the first decision you have to make is 'what kind of pool?'.

If you live in Australia, the first options that probably come to mind are painted concrete, pebble, fibreglass and tile. But did you know, one of the most popular finishes across Europe and the US is vinyl?

An Aqualux vinyl liner is a smarter inground pool finish, providing more real benefits than any other. For starters, Aqualux requires less maintenance – it will actually resist algae growth, has no effect on pool chemicals, and is incredibly easy to keep clean. And unlike any other finish, it will never flake, peel or crack – perfect during times of drought where ground movement is inevitable.

At ABGAL, every Aqualux liner is custom made to order – so your liner will fit the pool shell like a second skin, no matter what shape or style. Tailored using unique 3D technology, steps and deep-ends are all easily encompassed.

ABGAL offer a range of colours, from traditional resort-style blues, through to modern, coloured patterns and designs – with new options available every season. To see this season's full range, visit the ABGAL website at abgal.com.au/inground_liners.asp, or ask your installer for sample swatches.

Stronger, Smarter Seams

ABGAL were the first Australian liner company to progress from designing and cutting by hand, to using an exclusive design system and computerised manufacturing to guarantee a perfect fit, every time. In 2008 they developed 'SmartSeam' Technology – taking their unique wedge weld, and compacting it to half the original size, giving a narrower, flatter seam, with twice the strength of a traditional weld. These flattened seams result in a cleaner, more hygienic pool, with no little crevices for dirt to hide in. It also means there are no 'loose bits' for pool cleaners to get caught on, as can sometimes happen with other brands of liner.

10 Year Warranty

An ABGAL inground liner is a high quality, durable finish, as thick as 15 layers of paint. A 10 year pro-rata warranty against defective material and workmanship offers peace of mind – and most liners will last for years beyond this.

Installation

For best results, it is recommended that inground liners be fitted by a professional installer, who will supply ABGAL with precise measurements. After the liner has been made and the pool prepared, the liner is fitted and a special liner fixing system is used to secure it around tile borders and fixtures. Once everything is in place, the liner is vacuum-sealed to form a perfectly fitting skin, then filled with water. In most cases, you will be ready to swim again the next day!

Water Saving Pool Covers

Did you know that an uncovered pool can lose around 60,000 litres of water a year – just through evaporation? A pool cover can stop more than 99% of that, plus has the added bonus of reducing your chemical consumption by around half. Some covers are ideal for keeping leaves and debris out of a pool, while others solar heat the water and extend the swimming season by literally months every year. For more information about ABGAL pool covers and solar blankets, visit abgal.com.au or ask at your local pool shop.

An Environmental Choice

ABGAL take great care to ensure that all unused materials are recycled to produce other quality products. They are committed to reducing their own carbon footprint, and have recently undertaken the challenge of a 'paperless' filing system. All brochures and office stationery are printed using soy inks, and of course, their own 'display pool' is always covered when not in use.

Accredited to ISO 9001, ABGAL's success today is attributed to the high emphasis placed on the quality of service and products on offer.

Packaging

ABGAL's products are important to us and because we want to ensure that our liners arrive in the best possible condition we individually pack each liner in its own protective carton which is glued not stapled.
